

Dr. Warren Anderson

Presents

The Cabécar Indians In Costa Rica:
A Difficult Transition

Presented by

Kent Library's
ATHENÆUM SPRING SERIES

February 27, 2008
Wednesday, 12:00 Noon
Sadie's Place

The Cabécar Indians In Costa Rica:
A Difficult Transition

This presentation will look at the initial stages of a research project among the Cabécar Indians of the Talamancas Mountains in Costa Rica. Educators, anthropologists, health professionals, and community leaders are working together to structure an educational framework for the Cabécar Indians that provide opportunities for engagement in Costa Rican society without destroying indigenous traditions, communities, and values in the process. This is a venture that offers a glimpse into the delicacies and complexities of applied anthropology in the face of globalization.

Snacks will be served.

Kent Library Event Hosts: Linda Dedert, Chris Haman, Karen Kranawetter, Kerriann Lowell, Martha McBride, and Kelly Murray

Everyone Welcome!

Dr. Warren Anderson is one of the original leaders in the development of the new Athenæum Series. His presentations, a mix of lecture and discussion, are much appreciated by audiences. During his fifth Athenæum presentation, Dr. Anderson will discuss a challenging situation in Costa Rica all will find intriguing.

Sadie's Place is located on Kent Library's main level.