The Final Exam:

Religious Perspectives on Life after Death

Tuesday, October 14, 2008 at 12:00 Noon

Kent Library's Sadie's Place

- • If life is a journey, what is the destination?
- • Do we cease to exist at physical death?
- • Do you believe in life after death?

Life after death -- Why all the interest? In a day and age when the world is gripped with dispute and disagreement is at its peak, there remains one fact that is undisputed, moreover is accepted by each and everyone: Death. No matter what religion, group or sect one may be attached to, the fact of dying is not refuted. On the other hand, there are many religious perspectives on afterlife or immortality. Hear and discuss several different religious perspectives.

The presentation is open to all and refreshments will be served.

Kent Library Hosts:

Chris Haman, Twylla James, Karen Kranawetter, and Linda Zimmer
