

Dr. Carol Morrow Presents

Missouri's Indian Law: Not What We Thought

Wednesday, December 3, 2008 at 12:00 Noon
Kent Library's Sadie's Place

Many people in Southeast Missouri know that it used to be illegal to be an Indian in Missouri. This is the explanation for why so many people hid their Indian heritage until very recently. Actually, this story turns out to be more of an urban myth than reality.

Professor Morrow will talk about her research into this unique part of Missouri's past.

The presentation is open to all and refreshments will be served.

Kent Library Hosts: Julie Banks, Sheila Isaacs, Angela Primm, Cathy Stitz, and Robin Malone
