

Are You a Creator, Critic, or Collector?

Dr. Karie Hollerbach of the Department of Mass Media defines and discusses the participatory roles of today's social media.

Do you Twitter? Are you LinkedIn? Befuddled by blogs? Wild for wikis? Or has the onslaught of social media choices left you wondering: What is this really all about and how would I ever use it? Dr. Hollerbach will discuss the changing landscape of social media, its impact on traditional mass media, and social media applications for daily life, both inside and outside of the classroom. Bring your questions and bring your friends, even if you did not meet them on Facebook!

This event is free and open to the public. Refreshments will be served. Library hosts for this event: Martha McBride, Amber Miranda, and Cathy Roeder
