

The Association of Campus Ministries

Presents

"GOD AND COUNTRY SERIES"

Hosted by

Kent Library's

ATHENÆUM SPRING SERIES

Kent Library is pleased to host two presentations in the "God and Country Series", sponsored by the Association of Campus Ministries.

Religion and politics is a major topic of discussion in an election year, and continues to grab headlines. With so much talk about religion, have you ever wondered how religious people work out the area of faith and politics in their real lives? This lecture series addresses several distinct ways in which people of faith relate to the political world.

February 14, 2008
Thursday, 12:00 Noon
Sadie's Place

Religion and Political Action

Bob Polack, Ph.D., Associate Professor of Social Work and teacher/researcher in social justice, will speak on "Religion in Forming Social and Political Action in a Secular Democracy."

Josh Haynes, a manager for U.S. Representative Jo Ann Emerson and member of the Evangelical Lutheran Church, will be available for a dialogue on religion and political activism.

Snacks will be served.

Library Hosts: Cathy Stitz and Twylla James

February 28, 2008
Thursday, 12:00 Noon
Sadie's Place

World View

Kerry Wynn, Ph.D., Professor of Religion in the Department of Political Science, Philosophy, and Religion, will speak on the Christian Separatist tradition, "In the World but Not of the World."

Hamner Hill, Ph.D., Chair of the Department of Political Science, Philosophy, and Religion, will speak on "The Secularist Approach: Why the Wall of Separation Matters."

Snacks will be served.

*Library Hosts: Linda Zimmer,
Robin Malone, and Twylla James*